

tral pool. Won by the perennial champions, Walnut Hills, the meet's record showed that Withrow, New Woodward, Hughes, Western Hills, Central, and Old Woodward had trailed in that order. District competition, with schools all over the southwestern Ohio brought a sixth place to Coach Kindschy's men. No Huzite went to the State Meet in the Ohio State Natatorium at Columbus.

Prospects for next year are somewhat brighter. Returning will be star letterman Bill Brown, Dave Allart, Butch Fischer, Bill Hewitt, Art Bepler, Fred Bergold, Bill Hagen, and Jay Hughes.

Junior swimmers finished third in the city, sparked by some promising performances on the part of several freshman boys. Wes Welmor, backstroke, and free style man Jim Carter, and Rollo Young, a butterfly expert are the boys to watch in forthcoming Hughes tank seasons. The trio turned in stellar performances in the 1953 season.

Truly, this was a swimming season. It was a season of the most natatory, aquatic character, in which swimming and the athletics of the pool prevailed. The fellows who participated were swimmers first, swimmers last, and swimmers always. They swam, swam, and swam, and splashed the spectators.
