Basketball, a favorite sport among the boys, has been taken over by G. A. A. girls with very pleasing results. With Sandra Lancaster as sportleader, the girls take over the gym twice a week to play for a championship as the volleyball teams do. Basketballs used are the same size as those with which the boys play in P.H.S.L. games. Hughes girls have a chance to win fame for the school by competing in the annual Basketball Playday. This proved to be one of the roughest sports of all as was shown in the "51" Playday when many of the girls came home with "battle scars" after playing against some rather frightening opponents.

Of course, the biggest event of the year is the Battle of the Sexes in which the girls' honor team plays the boys' varsity. The girls usually manage to win and celebrate their victory with the "Battle of the Sexes" dance in the Girls' gym after the game.

The girls' basketball rules differ from the boys'. In their own field, however, many Hughes girls, are excellent shots.
