Teen-Age Motorists Learn Road Rules and Regulations

Rules of the road are the Fourth R for the pupils of Mr. Robert Meier and Mr. Morgan Jones. A student takes Driver's Education in his sophomore year to become acquainted with the various traffic regulations and the mechanisms required to operate a car. Reaction and visual accuracy tests are given to each student to see in advance how well his mind and body will co-ordinate.

In the junior and senior year students put this knowledge to work as they participate in "behind the wheel" training. Hand signals, shifting, and parking form the "homework" for the drivers of tomorrow.
