No, it's not a game of blindman's buff; it's the "Battle of the Sexes" basketball game.

Peg Stewart seems suspended in space as she tries a jump shot, and Nellie Lawson, Jo Ann Leaf, Peg Bronston, and Barb Thompson try for the rebound.

The Big Red Varsity Team has nothing on the G.A.A. girls. That is proven each year in the "Battle of the Sexes Game." This year the game was on April 6 and the G.A.A. Honor Team again displayed its superiority by hopelessly defeating the Boys' Varsity Basketball Team.

The G.A.A. Honor Team was chosen from the members who faithfully attended the practice sessions on each Tuesday and Thursday during the late winter months.

The teams were coached by Mrs. Rita Lacher, assisted by sportsleader, Barbara Thompson.

Although the girls' basketball rules differ from the boys', the girls manage to stay on top in their own field.
