

Shoot 'em High Pass 'em Low

Falling meteor? Errant comet? All eyes follow the twisting sphere as it drops from above. Swish! And the scorekeeper marks up two more points for the girls' honor team. Once again, in the annual "Battle of the Sexes" the female proves to be more deadly than the male, and the Big Red Varsity team goes down to its annual defeat. But it is all in fun, and a mirthful climax to a basketball season full of thrills and skillful play. Twice a week, under the guidance of Mrs. Rita Lacher and Miss Sarah Compton, the girls have drilled on the fine points of the game. And twice a year, at the gigantic playday and against the boys' team, the players have demonstrated the results of these practices. This year's winning ways were a tribute to Sportsleader Jody Drohan, and the performance of the Junior High girls, coached by Miss Diane Mergler, give promise of great teams in the future.

On guard. An iron defense is developed during a Tuesday practice.
