

Managing Editors Valorie Rapp and Ed Berghausen.

Hughes "Gargoyle" has become one of the outstanding student publications through the tireless efforts of Miss Hazel Koppenhoefer, better known to her pupils as Miss Koppe. The editors of this four page weekly are chosen from Miss Koppe's journalism class on basis of their ability and willingness to work. Their responsibilities include making up a dummy sheet of their individual pages which shows the printer how to arrange the material, editing copy, writing headlines, supervising others who write for their page, and Friday trips to the printers to proof read their creation. The remainder of the staff is composed of students who are interested enough to work after school on Mondays and Tuesdays and to contribute articles. Advertisement and circulation are departments in which students also serve. Besides keeping Hughes well informed and backing all of her activities, the "Gargoyle" contributes to "Dateline," an article for teen-agers in "Good Housekeeping," and sees that Hughes is represented in the city newspapers' youth sections.

Miss Hazel Koppenhoefer, Gargoyle Advisor.

FEATURE WRITERS

First Row: Left to Right: M. Magin, J. Meyer, J. Taylor, S. Hughes, M. Tyler.
Second Row: S. Tyler, D. McKinley, M. Price, B. Dabney, A. Harlow, A. Ward,
T. Turner. Third Row: E. Grossman, J. Eberhart.

Left to Right: Senior Advisors: S. Goins, M. Detmering, B. Hafner, A. Ruppanner.

Left to Right: Margaret Morgenstern, City Editor; Judy Wendell, News Editor.

