Crisp fall days found many girls practicing hockey at Fairview Park. Despite bruised shins and sore toes, hockey was played every Tuesday and Thursday after school. Under the supervision of sports leader Jeannette Johnson and the watchful eye of Miss Mary Busser, the girls practiced diligently for the playday. The results of the playday at Withrow were two games won, one tied, and three lost.

Several members of the team attended a city-wide Hockey Clinic where new skills were taught, games played, and refreshments served.

Dottie Harris dribbles the puck into position for a shot at the goal.
