

Assistant Principal for Senior High

Mr. Joseph Ayer, Hughestown's able senior high assistant principal, is one of the busiest men around Hughes. He is one of the main reasons why Hughestown life proceeds so smoothly. When he is not listening to excuses and filling out absence slips, he is taking care of student lockers, supervising the lunch lines, or lecturing to someone the hall guards have brought to him. He has had to give up supervision of the student book store, but has continued as sponsor of the Hughes chapter of Future Teachers of America and as supervisor of the book room.

As if all his work in day school were not enough, Mr. Ayer returns nights to Hughestown to perform his job as principal of West Night High School.

Even with all this work, Mr. Ayer manages to retain his friendly smile in keeping with the pleasant Hughestown atmosphere.

Assistant Principal Junior High

Mr. Anderson Owens, one of the new members of the Hughestown staff this year, has very capably taken over the reigns from Mr. Scherer as junior high assistant principal. Mr. Owens, who came to Hughes from Central High School, takes care of attendance, discipline, and guidance for the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. Following the trend established last year, Mr. Owens constantly endeavors to bring recognition to the junior high as an important part of Hughestown. He also keeps in close touch with the senior high students through his sponsoring of Hughes Club, the boys service club. A graduate of Newport High and University of Cincinnati, Mr. Owens has taught at Samuel Ach Junior High, Withrow, and Central.
