

Jordan Library . . . Reservoir of Knowledge

Miss Pennington and Mrs. Mason arrange a display in the library.

MISS MATILDA PENNINGTON

MRS. HELEN MASON

The Jordan Memorial Library, one of the many spots at Hughes which students show to visitors with pride, was established by the Alumni Association in 1924. The beautiful stained glass windows, installed at great cost in memory of former Hughes teachers, are unique in Cincinnati public schools. Amid these surroundings students quietly study and browse through any of the great number of books available. Staffed by Miss Pennington, Mrs. Mason, and their group of student assistants, the library provides opportunity for reference work, filmstrips, and classes in library use in the special classrooms adjoining the main room of the library.

Mary Ratliff is swamped with books.
