

In "Cheaper by the Dozen" Father Gilbreth emphatically enforces a peculiar rule in a typical family scene.

Cheaper by the Dozen, an hilarious story depicting the life of a family with twelve children, was the play given by the Hughestown actors this year.

The action centers entirely around the Gilbreth family and there is never a dull moment. Mr. Gilbreth's occupation is that of an Efficiency Director, and he is constantly using his family as guinea pigs for his new time-saving ideas. All in all, the play was an interesting one.

Sages has monthly meetings where talent is demonstrated by the various members.

Frank (Grady Nix) and Ernestine (Gloria Saylor) discuss in a pensive mood their father's old-fashioned method of raising twelve modern children.

Anne (Pat Howard) gazes while boyfriend Joe (Bob Cunningham) relates his motorcycle accident.
