

Students have found the Hughes Library a helpful source in preparing their daily assignments or as a quiet place for study. Standing beneath the portrait of Elmer Winfield Kizer, former principal, Dave Wahle and Sharon Ott select their books.

After days of prodding and anticipation, the 1963 ANNUAL staff solemnly ascended the old and quite dilapidated stairs, with matches in hand, to the very top of the Hughes tower. Included in the climb were (above) Judy Oettinger, John Magyar, Joyce Brown, Janet Wallace, Pete U'brich, Kay Aldridge, and (below) Carol Mincey, Sharon Cole, and Scharlyn Clark.
