

Mrs. Libbert goes up for a spike over the net during the Volleyball Faculty vs. Volleyball Honor Team game while Ruby Benton and Memo-leigh Williams watch.

The G.A.A. basketball teams practiced extra hard for their play day at Woodward. Their concentrated efforts brought victory to Hughes on the eventful day.

The Faculty Game was played after school, February 14, 1963, between the volleyball honor team and the faculty of Hughes. Several of the teachers present were Mr. and Mrs. Hanon, Mrs. Libbert, Mrs. Kaichen, Mr. Grimes and Mr. Hoffman. Two games were played. The teachers fought hard to overtake the students, but they lost in their efforts, 21-11 and 21-18. Both students and teachers played very good games and spectators enjoyed the event.

Basketball playday was conducted March 15, 1963, at Woodward High School. Some of the participating captains of the "A" and "B" teams were Gloria Hill, Theresa Battle, and Deidra Faulkner. The "A" teams won all of their games and the "B" teams won all but one. The girls enjoyed themselves very much, and before leaving for home, candy bars were passed out for treats. The "A-1" team played the most exciting games. Margaret Walker and Gloria Hill made some fine basketball shots. All the girls played as a team and trounced their opponents, Western Hills and Walnut Hills.

Mr. Hanon tries to keep his team from losing by jumping and hitting the ball high into the air while teammate Mrs. Hanon watches closely.
