

1963 Choir Activities

"Ladies before gentlemen!" say Diana Roark and Jean Sturgill while distributing the choir officers' robes to Wendell Young and President Dan Toon after waiting on Lois Wong and Carol Cascaddon.

"And now we present the 1963 Hughes Senior Choir under the direction of Mr. Bige Hammons." This introduction resounded through the Hughes High School auditorium at the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter assemblies. Each year the Senior Choir performs for the entire school, but these assemblies aren't the only responsibilities and activities for the members. This year the excellent voices were raised at Youth Week for a crowd at Christ Church.

At other times when it isn't possible for a large group to be present, certain voices are chosen to represent the entire group at important occasions. This aggregation of singers is known as the Ensemble. This year's Ensemble sang at various P.T.A. meetings and churches in Cincinnati. During the Christmas season, the Ensemble sang on the Jane Lynn Show. The Women's Press Club, classical assembly, and Merry-Go-Round all furnished spotlights for the Ensemble during the busy school year.

The Christmas and Spring Concerts featured the Senior Choir. Members of Choir were obliged to sell candy to pay for new robes and various activities. The choir officers chosen at the beginning of the year ruled wisely until the election of new officers, which took place in May.

As a final gift of song to their beloved alma mater, the Senior Choir sang the Benediction and "She's The Goddess We Adore" at the Graduation ceremony. By this time, the Senior Choir for next year had already been chosen.
