

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away, while the officers play," is the motto of Robert Tudor, Carol Jackson and Carol Schell as they are caught loafing on the job by President George Jackson. Actually, these officers led the class in a successful year.

*Class Officers Elected
Late in Junior Year,
Serve Seniors in '64*

Although a small class, the seniors of '64 moved forward under the leadership of President George Jackson, Vice-president Carol Schell, Secretary Carol Jackson, Treasurer Robert Tudor, and Parliamentarian Thaddaus Dawson.

These officers conducted regularly scheduled class-meetings once each month and assisted committees in planning and organizing senior activities during the school year. The class enjoyed the traditional social events and sponsored activities to provide funds for a school gift.

The class of '64 is grateful to Mr. Hobson, Mrs. Frehse, and the senior homeroom teachers for their guidance through this final year at Hughes.
