

In the fifty years of its existence, the club has had but five sponsors. Miss Julia Bentley, Miss Clara Fink, Miss Gladys Busch, Mrs. Elmore Heile, and Miss Aria Parke Schawe, the present sponsor, who has had the task since 1946.

Until this year, the club's activities have always included a Big and Little Sister Party to welcome newcomers, special Thanksgiving baskets, and a big Christmas tea for mothers and faculty. In order to make money for the two fifty-dollar Honor League scholarships given each year, each class had a Candy Apple Sale and a large-scale fashion show, put on by one of the leading department stores using Honor League girls as models.

And so with the ideal of honor in their hearts, the members of Honor League for the last time repeat their pledge:

"To do the thing I know is true
And should not be ashamed to do;
To try to make some others see
Th thing that so appeals to me."

Fifty Years Ago

Mrs. Ralph Loudenslager (left) is proud that Honor League is giving its traditional scholarships as memorials to her husband. Barbara Petra, treasurer, and Miss Schawe, sponsor, report the news.

Executive Board—Bottom Row: B. Petra, D. Jackson, V. Vesper, N. Sneed, S. Burke. Second Row: J. Bowling, S. Manning, C. Weber, D. Faulkner, C. Adams. Third Row: C. Schell, M. Maloney, C. Jackson, S. Ellis.

It's been a long time! Fifty years ago Miss Louise Bentley, sister of Honor League founder, composed the pledge. "The girls still live by it," say Cherie Weber, 1964 president, and Miss Schawe.

