

"How is this?" Final check is made by B. Waltz, K. Hennekes, Mr. R. Stephens, D. Inman, and R. Farthing.

Gargoyle Goings-on Prove Adventure in Journalism

"Roll up your sleeves, Bill Goetz, and help us find the mistakes," demanded C. Johnson, V. Ferrier, M. Cox, K. Moore, J. Whaley.

This year, members of the Gargoyle staff were sent as delegates to the 36th Annual Publications Conference Program. Karen Hennekes, Donna Inman, and Bill Waltz were accompanied by Mr. Roger Stephens, Gargoyle advisor, and Mr. Warren Solar, social studies teacher at Schwab Junior High School. The conference was held November 28-30, 1963. Representatives attended meetings each day and took notes from 9:00 A.M. until 6:00 P.M. with breaks for lunch and dinner.

Public and parochial school representatives made this the largest NSPA Convention ever held. Representatives were to present their newspapers to be judged. The officials gave the Gargoyle a "good" rating and raved about its mast head.

On Friday, November 29, the delegates attended a banquet sponsored by the National Scholastic Press Association. They stayed at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, attended a dance held in its ballroom, visited China Town, took the Loop Tour, and enjoyed "Beyond the Fringe" at the Studebaker Theater. Everyone considered the trip very beneficial.
