

Red Victory Over Taft

Hardy raced 18 yards to pay-dirt, and Jordan again ran the two extra points.

Another non-league meeting came against Middletown, sixth in the state. The Hughes gridders managed to score only once. Three Middletown touchdowns ran the final score to 24-8.

Fine defense and powerful offense gave Roger Bacon a 30-0 victory over the Big Reds in their fifth contest of the season.

The next week, Woodward outclassed Hughes, winning 25-8, although all scoring came in the first half.

In the Central game, Marvin Saylor tossed 14 yards to Bill Heard for Hughes' lone touchdown, but four scores by the Knights gave them 26 points to the Big Reds' 6.

Picking up blockers, Virgil Parker attempts to outrun the Western Hills Mustangs. Hughes won, 28-0.

Something's cooking when Head Coach Howard Thomas discusses Big Red strategy with Backfield Coach Will Hundemer.

The football managers, who assist in many ways, are T. Meyers, D. Bail, P. Russell, seated; S. Carter, N. Tscheiner, R. Messer.

Disgruntled, Hughes whipped Taft 18-8 in the final encounter of the season. Besides touchdowns by Hardy and Heard, the Big Reds scored one when Moe Williamson recovered a Taft fumble behind the Senators' goal-line. This upset victory closed out the 1962 grid season.
