Council Leads, Governs Hughes Student Body

Hughes Senior Student Council has the responsibility of governing the students of our school. The council, composed of representatives elected from each homeroom, has Miss Gladys Kloak as its faculty adviser. All representatives must attend the general meetings held once a month in the south lunchroom. A new procedure was initiated during the last half of the year for the Council meetings. After the regular business meeting, the group broke up into committees to work on their separate projects. Progress reports were submitted to Miss Kloak at the end of the committee sessions.

The Council helped provide Thanksgiving baskets of food for needy families in the community this year, and performed many other services for the school. A special committee sent get-well cards from the Student Council to faculty members who were ill. The Council also operated the Lost and Found Department for the Hughes students.

Better citizenship was the goal of many Council projects this year. First, the Council initiated a plan to clear the lunchroom and hall bulletin boards of posters from long-past events and to prevent early removal or destruction of current posters. A code was made up to enforce the rules for placement of posters, and fines were charged for violations of the code. Second, the group considered methods of improving behavior at assemblies. They decided, on the first offense, to send warnings to the classes whose behavior was unruly and, for repeated misbehavior, to bar the class from attending assemblies.
