

It's fun to study road maps, Mr. Weil's special education class learn, as they map out a route from Cincinnati to Akron.

New Curriculum Developed for Special Education Classes

With the inspiration and help of qualified teachers, Mr. Weil, Mr. Collopy and Mrs. Silver, Special Education prepares its students to take their place in the job world. They learn the importance of getting along with other people.

Interesting and enjoyable excursions were taken to Procter and Gamble and Burnet Woods. One of the year's most valuable projects was a car wash, a financial as well as educational venture.

Classes for the deaf and the partially-sighted are also provided.

In current events class, Mrs. Silver's students make the sign for Berlin "escape."

Mr. Jack Collopy, Mrs. Janet Silver, Mr. Arthur Weil.
