

Ginger (J. Courtier) backs Tommy (L. Strausbaugh) down after he proves to be inconsistent.

Ed (L. Miller) Hoffman, Howard (B. Walls) Carol's boss, graphically enacts the riotous afternoon at the bank to Agnes (M. Ciafardini).

Drama Students Stage "Time Out for Ginger"

Howie Carol, a man of high ideals with a weakness for making speeches, incites national interest and a town catastrophe when a speech to the high school causes his daughter Ginger to join the boys' football team. The results are hilarious and the play ends on a happy note.

Directed by Mr. French, Hughes' production of "Time Out For Ginger," on November 20, 1964, was an outstanding success.

Agnes, Howard, Ginger, Joan (P. Orlemann), Jeanne (K. Moore), and Liz (F. Solomon) watch as Tommy gives Eddie (H. B. Garrett) a lesson.
