

Fred Ramsey (Tommy Keeler); Joyce Courtier (Winnie Tate); and Paulette Orlemann (Annie Oakley).

Carl Whittaker (Charlie Davenport); Bob Walls (Buffalo Bill). Paulette played Annie and Henry Garrett, Frank Butler.

When Annie Oakley wandered into Cincinnati, she had no idea that the afternoon's events would change her life. Beating the "big, swollen-headed stiff" from the Wild West Show started her career in show business. Six weeks later, after having fallen in love with Annie, Frank left Buffalo Bill for his biggest rival, Pawnee Bill, because he felt that Annie had double-crossed him.

Eight month later, Annie returned from a European tour with the Wild West Show, absolutely penniless. Frank and Annie had another shooting match. Annie lost the match and learned that "you can't get a man with a gun."

Merry-Go-Round Band. Seated: M. Miller, B. King, N. Stemmer, P. Eken, J. Benne, T. Schott, R. Stelbasky, J. Kreimer, W. Fox, W. McMillan, M. Tilford, R. Bibb. Standing: Mr. Curtis, C. Belton, T. Jacobson, V. Friason, J. Cocco, R. Adrian, P. Glass, R. Farthing, J. Tepe, E. Brown, T. Jeffries, B. Poynter, B. Austin, T. Weimer, R. Clippinger.

