

Junior High Students Have Busy Days

John Crutchfield and Russell Hickey stop by the display case in the front hall to find out the winners of the foul-shooting contests. The intramural manager has posted the champions for each grade.

The Hughes library contains plenty of books to supply everybody's needs. For their next book report, M. Ross and S. Bollinger select biographies of Will Rogers and Harry S. Truman.

"I think you must be number 2799," the photographer tells this junior high boy. "Now get your name on the list so the ANNUAL can identify you properly."
