

Here's the Target! Ready, Set, Aim!

Yes, your life is in danger if you walk into the girls' gym when archery practice is going on! But if you have a keen eye and strong arms, join the girls who enjoy this individual sport. At the beginning of the season, everyone learns to string the bow, to set the arrow in position, and to hit the bull's-eye. The best archers compete in the playday at Lunken Playfield.

Arrows fly during archery practice, as girls try to improve their skill.

Softball Attracts Large Crowd of Girls

The great number of girls coming out for softball indicates the popularity of this sport. Junior high girls are supervised by Mrs. Henderson and senior high girls, by Mrs. Libbert. Unless bad weather interferes, the girls use the upper section of Coy Field for their practice on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the spring sports season.

By participating in this team sport, the girls develop teamwork, quick-thinking, and a sense of fair play. Everybody grabs bats, balls, and gloves and takes his position on the field. The pitch comes in, the batter swings and the "blue team" gets the first run.

Mrs. Henderson instructs junior high girls before going outdoors.
