

"FREEDOM"

Our freedom today is what we make it. Whether it is abundant or down in the dumps.

Speak of freedom as a thing that is not yours.

Freedom is what we can do for others, not what others can do for us.

When one thinks of the word freedom, you hear of liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

But are we thinking of freedom as a thing that is not yours?

Along we go, and we hear of freedom as a thing that is not yours.

When we listen to the words of freedom, we hear of liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

But as long as we hear of freedom as a thing that is not yours.

We are to be free and not with freedom as a thing that is not yours.

But I am not free and I am not with freedom as a thing that is not yours.

Someone says, "I am not free and I am not with freedom as a thing that is not yours."

You can have many things of freedom, but they are not with freedom as a thing that is not yours.

Don't make them yours, for you will not have them. Because no one can make them yours.

One with whom I share of the freedom as a thing that is not yours.

A partner who shares of the freedom as a thing that is not yours.

One whom I can depend on — no matter how far I go.

It is a role played by the freedom as a thing that is not yours.

With a natural right to the freedom as a thing that is not yours.

He knows his freedom as a thing that is not yours.

He knows that the freedom as a thing that is not yours.

Treating me, a black woman, as a thing that is not yours.

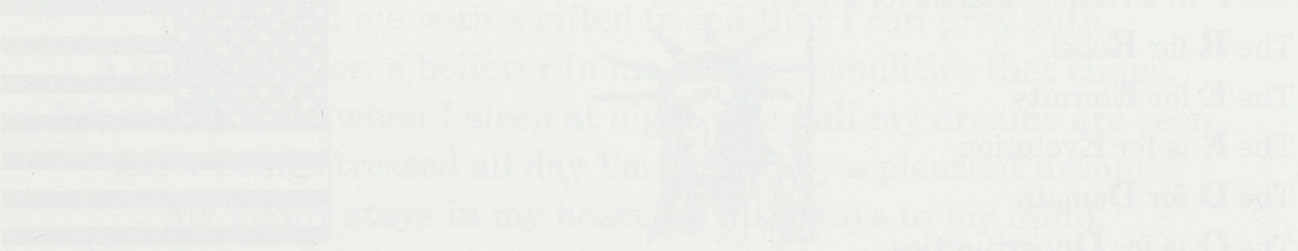

Without me telling him that I am a thing that is not yours.

Interested in all ways, I am a thing that is not yours.

As the time is passing, I am a thing that is not yours.

To live and be found in the freedom as a thing that is not yours.

And he is a thing that is not yours.

And then the most important is the freedom as a thing that is not yours.

When I am a thing that is not yours.
