

Throughout the course of the first semester, 9E wasn't too high on the homeroom spirit totem pole, and other homerooms were beginning to wonder if it had any spirit at all. During the third quarter, however, 9E recognized this attitude that its fellow homerooms had and decided to do something about it. There was soon a general desire within the 9E boys to shoot for the highest honor in homeroom competition, the Spirit Banner. At first it seemed an almost impossible task, but directed by the advice of the homeroom teacher, Mr. Roger Tieman, we were willing to try. We came out first in the Bishop's Relief Fund. We showed up quite well in intramural action. We fought on, and when the final results were published, 9E had won the Freshman Division Spirit Banner for the fourth quarter. Even though we started off poorly, we think we had a good year.
