

Homeroom 10A, better known as the ADVENTURERS under the leadership of Mr. Schulte, can once again proudly proclaim that they have had another successful year as members of the Covington Catholic student body.

As the weeks passed, the homeroom became involved in many extra activities, the first of which was entirely redecorating the homeroom. Of course, we had to sponsor a dance to cover the expenses of the paint and the draperies. After the room was beautified, we then participated in the Campbell Lodge Festival. Working together as a team 10A finished with a respectable third place in homeroom competition.

After this the running of the homeroom was very smooth until the deaths of Jim and Joe Corbett. Jim, being the president of the homeroom, was its source of inspiration. But the ADVENTURERS ventured on to win the second quarter Spirit Banner. A first place in intramural volleyball and baseball, and a second place in ping-pong speak well for the sports in the homeroom. There were also several ADVENTURERS on the school basketball, baseball, and tennis teams; and amongst the activities, the Sodality, Speech and Debate, and the JPC were represented.

In finishing the fourth quarter, the homeroom again placed a first for the Spirit Banner. Much of this success is undoubtedly due to the memory of Jim and Joe Corbett who will never be forgotten by the ADVENTURERS.
