

The District Tournament

After the season has come officially to a close there then begins a series of tournament games narrowing down the competition between teams and giving each one the chance to prove its claim for championship.

The war of points commenced as the first battle to take shape was the District Tournament. In this first clash of tournament competition, the men are separated from the boys as the weaker teams fall to the skill of the stronger.

It is ironic that Covington Catholic, the traditional host of the tournament, has won the title only once in its history but this year's team was determined to overcome the long standing jinx.

In order to win the title, we were faced with Ludlow, Beechwood, and Holmes and with remarkable results turned their fans away quite dismayed, as we prepared ourselves for the next rung in the ladder of success.

Two for Kraut

