

The Regional Tournament

Winning the District was only the first step on the ladder of success and as we stepped into the Regional Tournament with our heads held high, and a definite goal in mind. We were ready to show the people of the state the existence of Covington Catholic.

The first game of the tournament found us on the same floor with the Highland's "Bluebirds" and, although we were confident and rated the top team all season, we knew from past experiences that we mustn't underestimate any opponent's strength.

The next two games found us playing our old city rivals Newport Catholic and Holmes whom we had just previously beaten to capture our District title.

After finishing off New. Cath. and demonstrating that the Bulldog's bark was worse than his bite, we eagerly awaited our chance down state to prove to all that Covington Catholic was tired of being called a second rate power.

Covington Catholic Shows whose boss as we literally destroy Holmes to capture the Regional title.
