

A Year Worth Remembering . . .

The present is the future that we worried about in the past. With the power of ten years behind us; and the desire to keep it moving; we cannot look back at nothing; but only ahead to a limitless horizon.

