

IN AMERICA We are taught the principles of democracy, but with the right to express our objections. We have competent teachers and their purpose is to educate students in order that they may make something of themselves instead of making war.

ADMINIS- TRATION

IN EUROPE They are taught the principles of dictatorship and dare not express their own opinions. The purpose of their schools is to teach students how to fight, and they are trained from early youth. Instead of teachers, they have Generals and Lieutenants.
