

FOREWORD

Do you remember . . . ? Do you remember the football games with the spice of autumn in the air? that tremendous production that the juniors gave in the fall? the first snow and Christmas vacation? those blue exam days? the crowded hall at the half-time of the basketball games? the Variety Show? the senior class play that came about the same time as spring fever? the prom? graduation?

Memories are dear to all of us. So let us remember everything. Let's not forget a single precious moment. We'll remember the things we did, the friends we made, and everything we learned; so that we can face life without fear. May this book help YOU to remember.
