Mariemont's baseball nine emerged from the 1954 season with a fairly respectable record of five wins and four losses. The team was characterized by the commendable performances of its six senior members. Jim Jones and Bob Stefanowski turned in terrific hurling jobs while Lou Margolen, Harry Walters, Ed Singer, and John Mallen sparkled both at the plate and in the field.

The Warriors overcame St. Bernard and Reading in the first two games of the season, but dropped the two following contests to North College Hill and Lockland. Mariemont then trounced Wyoming under the two-hit pitching of Jim Jones and continued its winning ways by defeating Indian Hill and Deer Park. After losing to Greenhills, the Warriors closed the season by dropping a close game to Anderson in the district tournament.

The 1955 team will certainly feel the effects of losing the six seniors. Craig Runyan, Bill Osswald, Steve Gerard, Ray Thompson, and Gene Shea are expected to carry on in their footsteps.

Congratulations to Coach Doug Ernsting and also Jim Root for their invaluable service to the team.
