

Dedication

MRS. FISH AND MRS. DAVIS

"Hail blue and gold to thee we will be true . . ." is a very fitting statement for the two ladies you see before you. To you, Mrs. Davis, and to you, Mrs. Fish, we dedicate the '59 Chieftain.

An intimate knowledge of Shakespeare, a love of histrionics, and a constant desire to expel ignorance in favor of wisdom are accomplishments of our distinguished "lady in blue". Mrs. Davis has tried always to instill in our minds and hearts the deep satisfaction of accomplishment; thus we Seniors, some quite unknowingly, take with us into the world a confidence in our own abilities and a vast insight into the history of our English forefathers that would have been barren without her efforts. We owe to her more than we can say.

Without Mrs. Fish there would be no Chieftain. Year after year, she works her heart out and applies herself diligently toward meeting deadlines, saving money, and inspiring editors, all of which produce a better book. Such devotion cannot go unmentioned. Her artistic mind and touch help to inspire her art classes, as well as to create in those with whom she comes in contact, imagination, perseverance, and deep admiration for her. This golden touch can be seen throughout any Chieftain. It comes from her heart of gold.

Thus, we have the "Blue" and the "Gold". What could be more fitting for our dedication?
