The 1968-69 Big Brother Program was the largest in it's history at Moeller. Big Brothers is a group of young men, who dedicate much of their time helping and guiding the unfortunate at St. Aloysius orphanage. The time is spent helping these boys with their scholastic work, playing football, basketball and other sports.

At least twice a month members take orphans to different places such as the neighborhood pony keg, football games, swimming, and home. The Big Brother Program has helped greatly in the normal development of boys growing in an unnatural surrounding.
