

"Out damned spot! out, I say! One; two: why then 't is time to do it." With these words, spoken by the conscience stricken Lady Macbeth, the great Shakespearian tragedy comes to life for the students of Miss Moorman's sixth period class. Dramatization of scenes from the play being studied is one of the more enjoyable phases of any English course. Our English courses also seek to develop a good background in the essentials of English and to give an appreciation of fine literature to each pupil.
