

In the spring a young man's fancy turns—or so the saying goes. If the young man is a member of an Art II class, it turns to a drawing board with pencil in hand. The results of sophomores who have been lured onto the campus by balmy spring breezes can be seen in the sketches and water colors of the Withrow campus which are displayed in the art rooms. Some of these pictures show remarkable ability, and many future contest winners, cartoonists, and art staff members are discovered.
