

Ernst gets ready to slam one out of the park.

● bats, balls, and gloves hold interest

● April always brings the resounding thud of the cowhide meeting the timber. Yes, it is baseball season at Withrow. Taking over the chores of rounding the boys into shape is Mr. Huheey, new to Withrow this year. He is very fortunate in having ten lettermen returning from last year's team to form the basis of what could be a championship team. The infield positions were in the competent hands of four lettermen. Al McMillan at third, Roy Hughes at shortstop, Jim Neison at first base. Patrolling the outfield were Jack Radcliff, Ike Masali, Carl Eschenbach, and Charles Brandenburg.

McMillan stretches for a high one.
