

Withrow Junior High teachers walk contentedly back to the classroom after relaxing with a tasty meal and pleasant conversation enjoyed in the lunchroom of the main building; while grouped together on the steps of the Withrow stadium are Junior High pupils chatting about the events of the day. The iron gates which are opened for all to pass through during school hours make the Junior High entrance a lovely one. An extra treat is afforded to the Junior High faculty as they stroll back to their rooms. This feast for the eyes is Withrow's lovely campus, beautiful in its expanse, and serene magnitude.

THE JUNIOR HIGH STUDENTS EAGERLY ANTICIPATE ADVANCING TO SENIOR HIGH

A clever device in taking attendance has been incorporated in the Junior High Physical Education system. Each boy has a number which is placed on the gymnasium wall. When the boys enter they first line up beside their numbers and place their fingers upon them. The numbers which have no hand placed upon them are absent. Here "Pop" Hensel is taking the roll-call in one of his seventh grade gym classes.

Passing through the arch that joins Withrow Senior High with the Junior High School, we catch a glimpse of "effies" and "E-flats" on the way to lunch. After lunch these same school grounds will be the scene of baseball, rope-jumping, and hop-scotch. In the background stands the Junior High tower which is the central point that binds this part of beautiful Withrow into architectural oneness, and fine grace.
