

HISTORIC EVENTS OF THE PAST AND PRESENT PROVOKE MUCH DISCUSSION

The eager students of this history class are citizens who will soon undertake difficult civic, state, national, and world responsibilities. It will be up to them to create a better world — a world where all nations will live together peacefully and prosperously. From the time these pupils enter the classroom until the time they leave, they are taught the principles of democracy, which enable this dream of a better world to come true. Events of yesteryear, complete with today's own problems, give a rich background for studying the questions of the hour. Panel discussions assist by developing individual opinions, substantiated by facts. These ideas are pondered over and scrutinized so that the future citizens may have a greater understanding of, and confidence in, tomorrow's world.
