Withrow, in her attempt to acquaint the student body with the great authors, celebrates Book Week every year. This week was topped off by a literary "Battle of the Sexes."

Interesting Assemblies Represent Book Week

To illustrate the necessity for literary appreciation in our everyday living, chosen students of the school participated in this fast and furious question and answer program. These amateur "Quiz Kids" answered a barrage of questions with an attentive audience. The brilliant participants had no preparation for the assembly other than vast reading to aid them in answering correctly. We gladly give a big hand to Book Week!
