Mr. Renshaw, adviser

The page editors check the freshly-printed copies of this week's edition.

Leading the eighty members of the staff that produce the Tower News are Isabel King, editor-in-chief, and Mr. Renshaw, who also juggles finances to meet publication costs. Next in line, the page editors and their assistants plan the pages and give the reporters assignments. Even with Mr. Renshaw's ever-lasting teasing, the staff has the paper ready for its deadline, and Izzy begins her Thursday night headache all over again. After she proofreads and checks the work, it is sent on a last, quick trip to the printer.
