Literary Editor

"Type on White"; "Where are the sigs?"; "Pass the thesarus". These are several of the frequently used expressions of the ambitious members of the Annual Literary Staff. It is the duty of these "literary geniuses" to write the numerous headlines, captions, copy blocks, and identifications which are in our prize-winning annual.

Three o'clock! School is over, over for everyone except the five assistant editors, Nancy Morgan, Jack Brucher, Gayle Evans, Edith Weisman, and John Chambers. Together they work long and hard in order to write our great annual.
