

Talent, hard work, and stage presence are the essence of all Minstrel soloists.

Out of the spotlight, amidst grease paint, arc lights, and costume designs, labor the backbone of the black-faced review. They receive no bouquets of roses for their toil, only the satisfaction obtained from a job well done. The duties of the Minstrel crew are numerous—some members sweat behind pony lights while others create jaunty costumes. Of course, a pride and joy of the crew is the radiant medallion backdrop, highlighting the extravaganza for which all work

Hidden talent is shown.

Hearts thrilled as the trustworthy participants' notes ring out in the finale, "We Are the Minstrelriers."

Here talent reigns supreme.
