

Black and Gold, 1946, Beta Chapter: pieced together, form Tau Sigma. Although meaningless to outsiders, the phrases, together with limelighted moments, fill the hearts of the fraternity members with warmth. Pride excels while thinking of the successful production of Withrow's "little black book," Names and Numbers. This same organization takes pride in presenting one of the biggest climactic dances of the year, the Exam Blues, taking some of the sting from our dreaded midterms. The Christmas and the Spring Formals bring vivid pictures of gala holidays into their memories while recalling good times shared with other social clubs and the furthering of a fellow classmate's schooling affords a gratified feeling of completeness and brotherhood.

T a u S i g m a

Chapter: Beta
Date of Organization: 1946
Colors: Gold and Black
Membership: 31

formed by individuals

T. S. deserves an "A" in effort for the Exam Blues, held in an attempt to dispel the gloom settling over Withrow during playless exam week.

