2004 saw the rebirth of a great Withrow tradition, the student-produced newspaper, Tower News. An anonymous alumna purchased iMacs for production and underwrote the costs of commercial printing. A small group of loyal and hard-working student journalists produced three issues during the second semester of the school year. When our benefactor came forward, she said she wanted to sponsor Tower News because her experiences on the school paper were some of her fondest Withrow memories. Thanks to her generosity, a new generation of Tigers can create a future full of good memories.
