

Graduation! Never again will we experience the feeling of importance we knew on this memorable day. We feel the pride of graduation conflict with the sorrow of treading the pathways of Withrow for the last time, as students, when we file down the tree-lined drive to the crowded stadium in the final dignity of cap and gown. We say goodbye to more than places—friendships are also ended.

as our years of growth through human relationships