Hey, girls, step it up! Don't be so pokey! Time's a-wasting.

Stumbling through the endless halls, freshmen, in a flutter of enthusiasm during the greenest years of their high school life, make exciting new friends. Among these acquaintances, they will find friendships that will enrich their personalities. As they begin the fall term, they choose courses in preparation for college or a job. Sophomores, more at home in Withrow, undauntedly defy the hypodermic needle and the X-ray of health exams. Now proven

What is to happen now? It's all so very new and different.

fit, they may join clubs which are open to them, like Senior Choir or the language groups. Juniors, proudly upperclassmen, contemplate senior responsibilities a trifle soberly as they select twelve outstanding members of their class for Senior Council; these representatives will choose class jewelry. With study and activities, the first three growing years move rapidly toward a fourth and final year in senior high school.
