

Although they only won 2 games, the boys displayed the fighting spirit, hard play and good sportsmanship that are a custom and lifelong tradition of all Woodward teams. Their's are the immortal words of Knute Rockne, "Try hard to win, but be a good loser."

This same school of thought will be in the minds and bodies of the many who will be trying to secure for themselves a team uniform, come around the gridiron season next fall.

Boys returning to give their services next fall, who added tremendously to the team's morale and reserve will be Sydney Broadnax, Terry "Bull" Hawkins, Sandy Willborn, Charles Wright, John Haywood, Pat Orloff, Don Moran, Ray Green, John Johnson, and many more.

Those who doffed their suits for the last time were: Bill "Crazy Legs" West Bill "Plastic" Bolling, Larry "Turnips" Arthur, Walt Alford, Red Morris, Adolph Frazier, Arnold Gregg, Morris Chisholm, John Williams, and more.

'Good luck to these boys in their coming careers.'

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Green, are they? Well, they are only freshmen. What more is there to expect? These first year men, under the able direction of Bob Krausher, have started with the basic rudiments of football — learning blocking, tackling, running and the simplest bread and butter plays in their easiest and non-complex form. Many of these boys have never played eleven man football, but are eager and willing to learn. Under careful guidance, following instructions, they are able in a very short period of time, to perform with surprising efficiency. The training and experienced absorbed from this first year, give them the zeal and enthusiasm to continue up the ladder to the Reserves where they get more experience and training, readying them for their big year, "The Varsity." It is hoped that theirs are the words of Dean Alfrange, "To build and succeed." Here's wishing you good luck.
