

- Mar. 5—Snapshots for Annual. (Did I ever turn in a couple of honeys!)
- Mar. 8—Girls' Play Day.
- Mar. 11—Assembly. (We're doing all right this year on this assembly business!)
- Mar. 14—Senior Music rehearsal. (We don't practice as often as we might 'cause the Spring Concert rehearsals take up so much time.)
- Mar. 20—"Bugs Bunny" blossomed forth on all the blackboards to advertise the Spring Concert. Work of Joe Jiles.
- Mar. 22—Band picture in uniform. (The new band uniforms are really the stuff!)
- Mar. 26—Tap dancing rehearsal. (I'm getting anxious to see that show!)
- Mar. 27—Assembly—Judo exhibit. (Wolves beware!!)

APRIL

- Apr. 1—Last day to turn in snapshots for Annual. (And that's no April Fool joke, son!)
- First baseball game of the season with Purcell. (And we lost it!)
- Apr. 2—Seniors measured for caps and gowns.
- Apr. 9—Baseball game. Woodward vs. Walnut Hills. (Lost again!)
- Apr. 11-12—Spring Concert. (It was really grand. We surely can be proud of our music department!)
- Apr. 15—Senior Music rehearsal. (Should be full steam ahead now that the concert is over!)
- Apr. 16—Opening Day Baseball Game. (Hope the Cincinnati Reds do better than the Woodward Blues!)
- Apr. 17—Spring vacation starts tomorrow. April 18-22. (Oh, happy days!)
- Apr. 24—Choir rehearsal at Music Hall. (Oh, why didn't I join the Choir. Such rehearsing!)
- Apr. 26—Assembly. Tap Dancing Show. (It was swell!)

MAY

- May 1—Counseling for next year's programs. (Surely am glad I don't have to bother with that!)
- Girl Reserve Dance. (I wonder who'll be May Queen.)
- May 2—Senior rehearsal for commencement. (That happy day is drawing closer!)
- May 6—(Dream stuff finally broke down and asked me to go to the Prom with him. Was going to act difficult about the whole thing but thought better of it. Too many gals are only too anxious to say "yes"!)
- May 11—(Bought my formal for the Prom. It's "date bait" believe me! Do I sound fickle?)
- May 16—(Can't keep my mind on my school work today. After all a Prom is an important item in a gal's life!)
- May 17—Spring Prom. (And it turned out even more wonderful than I imagined in my wildest moments!)
- May 25—Band festival.
- Spelling finals.
- May 27—Hi-Y hayride. (Aren't they romantic though!)
- May 28—Senior rehearsal—fifth and sixth. (Life is grand these days.)

JUNE

- June 3—Senior rehearsal the third period. (The time is growing short!)
- Senior exams. (Wouldn't you think I might have escaped such a fate! But then, I guess that it's my own fault.)
- June 4—(Do I ever have a swell date for graduation night! Must be what an education does!!)
- June 5—Class Day. (I just couldn't help shedding a tear or two. It was on the sad side—the idea of parting from old friends and saying farewell to good old Woodward.)
- June 6—Caps and gowns given out.
- Annuals distributed today. (They're really sharp this year!)
- June 7—(All set for graduation—date, dress, and everything!)
- June 10—Commencement. (Marks the end of my high school days, but here's hoping that it marks the beginning of bigger and better things!!)
