Beginning where Coach Forest Neuman left off when he entered the Navy, Coach William Theisen formed his nineteen forty-three team about six veteran linemen and three backfieldmen. Using these boys as the backbone of the team, Coach Theisen filled in with boys from last year's reserve squad, and made use of some previously undiscovered talent. The team worked hard in practice and was ready to go when the football season started.

The Bulldogs began their season with two straight victories, defeating Central Vocational 6-0 and Hartwell 7-0. From here on their sporting struggle became much more difficult and often they were on the losing end of the score. Although the Bulldogs were exceptionally light the team fought hard all the way. What they lacked in weight they made up in tenacity. They emulated the example of their mascot — the tenacious bulldog. Even when the odds were definitely against them, they fought to the last minute of play — whether to victory or defeat.
